The Pine Cone Recommends . . .

Tuesday you'll go to the polling places and vote yes, please, on a city ordinance to prohibit construction of any kind, other than that required for public safety and sanitation, on Carmel's City Beach. There is an ordinance now in effect carrying such a prohibition. It was passed many years ago by a Carmel City Council and could be repealed by a Carmel City Council of the future, as the present city council repealed, by a vote of three to two, an ordinance provision which required the cable television company to place its transformer boxes underground.

If you, the voters, pass this measure protecting the beach, only you can repeal it. It will not be subject to the whims of three members of some future city council.

This measure was forced on the ballot over the objections of two holdover councilmen by Francis Whitaker after he had witnessed the ease with which the television ordinance had been repealed. Whitaker, and Mayor Horace Lyon, both candidates for re-election, cast the two lone no votes. Geraldine Smith, also seeking re-election, went along with the holdover councilmen and voted yes.

You will vote for three councilmen, and there are nine candidates, the three incumbents: Mayor Horace Lyon, Geraldine Smith and Francis Whitaker, running for re-election, and six newcomers.

The Pine Cone recommends Mayor Horace Lyon on his voting record, not only for his "no" vote on the television transformers issue but for his consistent good judgment. No Carmel mayor has had a more difficult council. Early in his administration he strove for an impossible goal, in view of the personalities involved, unanimity among the council members after reasonable discussion. He would delay and postpone final decisions on issues in the hope of achieving this civilized ideal. His courage and wisdom became evident when the time came to vote, and he would follow his convictions even though they might be contrary to those of a majority of his councilmen.

He was not eager to run for a second term, and he delayed announcing his candidacy because of his reluctance to deprive his wife and himself of a trip to Germany next year to visit their son on military duty there. But thoughtful Carmel people urged him to take on four more years of responsibility and he made a difficult and unselfish decision.

His presence on the council is especially needed during the period of Carmel's adoption of a master plan. As a former member of the advisory committee to the County Planning Commission, Mayor Lyon is better informed on land use problems and zoning than any other individual in the city.

The Pine Cone suggests you make your selection for the other council members from the two incumbent council members and Jim Buffington. The other new candidates have no record of public service or of interest in public affairs to give us any basis of judgment as to their merits or ability.

Buffington, a successful businessman, has lived in Carmel for ten years, has served efficiently

Peter and his first two mayors. Left, P. A. McCreery, center retiring City Clerk Peter Mawdsley and right, Fred Godwin. The picture was taken Tuesday night a few minutes before Peter sat down to dinner in La Playa dining room as the guest of 171 friends who chose this way to show their affection and appreciation for him and his wife, Lucy. Mrs. Mawdsley also served the city, as deputy city clerk, for a number of years before her retirement last year.

All of the two hundred tickets had been taken and many of the 30 who planned to come but couldn't sent telegrams and letters. Assemblyman Alan Pattee and Senator Fred Farr were detained in Sacramento because of the week's extension of the legislature session. A resolution had been presented by Senator Farr and unanimously adopted by the California State Senate and was read at the dinner by former Mayor Herbert Heron.

Senate Resolution by Senator Fred Farr:

Whereas, it has come to the attention of the Senate of the State of California that Peter Mawdsley is retiring from his position as City Clerk of the City of Carmel after 18 years of service; and

Whereas, Peter Mawdsley was raised in Lancashire, England, where he received his early education and was married to Lucy Mawdsley; and

Whereas, Peter Mawdsley came to the United States in 1922, stopping for a short time at Lebec, California, where he served as postmaster of that community before eventually settling in Carmel, where he entered business and became recognized as an authority on matters of municipal and school finance; and

Whereas, Peter Mawdsley was appointed Deputy Clerk and Assessor of the City of Carmel in 1938, succeeding to the position of City Clerk when a vacancy occurred in that office in 1943 and was reelected to that position for three succeeding terms of office during which time he served under a total of 23 different members of the City Council of Carmel; and

Whereas, Peter Mawdsley has always had a strong sense of civic responsibility serving first as a member and later as financial advisor to the Carmel Unified School Board and serving as secretary and later president of the Carmel Realty Board and serving as a member of the Carmel Business Association; and

Whereas, Lucy Mawdsley has

Sand Dunes and Beach, 1921

BY TALBERT JOSSELYN

This personal account of how Carmel obtained the sand dunes, the beach and Devendorf Plaza is here published for the first time.

In the spring of 1921 Frank Devendorf of the Carmel Development Company (the founder of Carmel-by-the-Sea) deeded to the city of Carmel a piece of land one hundred by six hundred feet in size, being the continuance, through sand dunes, of Ocean Avenue from where it then stopped at San Antonio Street to the beach.

The people of Carmel, envisioning the opening up of the Avenue to the beach, and the possible subsequent development of the beach and the fifteen acres of dunes lying to the north of the deeded strip, decided that something should be done about it.

On an evening a group of some forty or more met at the studio of De Neale Morgan. They were typical Carmel villagers — artists, writers, retired people, housewives. The matter was talked over, and it was decided that a committee of three should immediately wait upon Frank Devendorf.

Said the group, choosing the committee by turning to Fred Bechdolt, De Neale Morgan and myself, "Bech, if you'll go, and De Neale, and Tal."

We rang up Devy — he was Devy to us, not Frank Devendorf — and he told us to come on over. So we walked the two blocks to his house and he met us at the door.

"Come in, come in!" he said. We went in, told him we wanted to buy the sand dunes and the beach, and asked his price. He sat for a moment in silence and then said:

"I'll sell you the dunes, the beach, the bathhouse and the cliffs for fifteen thousand dollars. And there's a block, uptown, Block 69. I'll throw that in too."

We thanked him, returned to the waiting group, and told them. "It's a go!" they said.

That fall, in a bond election, the people of Carmel voted by a ratio of four to one to buy dunes, beach and Block 69.

It was as simply done as that. The people of Carmel knew what they wanted, and they got it. It was understood, and understood emphatically by these people, that dunes and beach were to be left in their natural state, that nothing was ever to be built upon them. So they became the heritage of Carmel to be passed on to succeeding generations.

They have come down to this generation. And this generation, in order to make it a rock-ribbed certainty that no elective body of the council of the city of Carmel shall ever forfeit that birthright, is asking the people of Carmel to go to the polls on April 10th. And there overwhelmingly reaffirm, once and for all, that dunes and beach will be handed down to succeeding generations in the same inviolate condition that this generation received them.

PADRE NINE CLIPS
BELLARMINE, 2 TO 0

Behind the effective two-hit pitching of Mike Mosolf and Dick Jennings, Carmel High's classy varsity baseball team took the measure of the powerful Bellarmine Prep aggregation, 2 to 0, Monday afternoon at Bardarson Field. Always rated near the top of the interscholastic standings in baseball, Bellarmine fielded the usual smooth-fielding smart-playing club and battled the Padres right down to the wire before bowing to the slants of Carmel's double-barrelled pitching duo. Mosolf started for the Padres and turned in his best pitching effort of the current season, striking out 7 in four innings, allowing no walks, and giving up one scratch single. Jennings hurled the last three innings, allowing only one hit, walking one, and striking out 4 Bell swingers. Off their sparkling performance against the potent Bells, the Padre pitching combination rates as one of the most effective in Northern California.

The Padres picked up both runs in the second frame when Ron Huffman executed a perfect squeeze play to score Kyrk Reid and Bill Hook banged out a clutch single to score West Whittaker.

Kyrk Reid supplied the fielding gem of the game, running a country mile to haul down a sure double off the Danny Sereno, Bellarmine's all-city second baseman. Kyrk also got on base three times in three chances, drawing a pair of walks and getting hit by an errant pitch.

CARMEL BATTLES GILROY FOR LEAGUE LEAD FRIDAY

Carmel High's surging varsity baseball team journeys to Gilroy Friday afternoon for a joust with Art Baxter's Mustangs and the winner of this one will have a firm hold on first place in the B division CCAL pennant chase. The Padres won their first league outing, defeating Live Oak, 7 to 1, as Mike Mosolf tossed a no-hitter at the Oaks. Gilroy has a 2-0 record for league play, holding a 9-8 win over Pacific Grove and shutting out Gonzales, 10 to 0, as pitcher Reyes and Aguilar combined to hurl a one-hitter at Coach Gutierrez' Spartans. All the other teams in the B division have been defeated as the pennant race shapes up as a touch and go affair. Every school in the league is equipped with veteran performers and there are several outstanding pitchers with enough stuff to beat any prep nine on a given day.

In Bob Mazzuca, Ron Leonti, Jim Fahey and Julian Aguilar, the Mustangs boast the best hitting crew in the league and the Padre pitchers will have to be at their best to stop these potent swingers. Carmel well remembers Mazzuca from last season as the 200-pound outfielder blasted a home run and triple to blast Carmel's pennant hopes. Carmel hopes to counter the Gilroy power with the steady pitching of Mike Mosolf and Dick Jennings and the solid hitting of Bob Michela, Jim Konrad, Kyrk Reid, and Jennings.

While the Padres are visiting the Mustang campus, Pacific Grove will be tangling with King City and Live Oak will cross bats with Hollister. Carmel will entertain Hollister in a Tuesday afternoon game next week and should get a severe test from the hustling Haybalers.

THE SPORT WHEEL

Ron Woolverton is San Jose State Quarterback Candidate — A former Carmel High grid star, Ron Woolverton, will make a determined bid for the first string quarterback job at San Jose State when Coach Bob Bronzan calls his cohorts together for spring practice. Ron has enjoyed a sparkling junior college career at Los Angeles Valley and at Monterey Peninsula College. He was Coach Dick Friend's top ball mover at MPC last season and is rated as one of the best split-T quarterbacks in junior college circles.

Mike Ricketts on Leatherneck Baseball Squad — Mike Ricketts, one of Carmel's favorite prep athletes when at Carmel High, is putting his athletic talent to good use in the Hawaiian Islands where he is stationed with the U.S. Marines. Mike made a bid for the base baseball squad and withstood the competition offered by pros and college stars to earn a place on the Marine team. Besides the enjoyment of playing baseball, Mike also skips some of the more unpleasant duties associated with Marine life.

Coach Buzz Rainer is Smiling — A slim well-built lad walked into the office at Carmel High this week and asked for enrollment papers. Lots of transfers hit the Padre campus, but few stir up the athletic department as this lad did. You see, his name is Roger Smith and he can run a nifty flight of hurdles and also high jumps over six feet. Track Coach Buzz Rainer immediately started clearing a place for the league track trophy which he figures the Padres will win with the help of the agile Smith. This is actually returning home for Roger as he was a student at Carmel High during his sophomore and junior years.

King City Relays This Saturday — Early Saturday morning about 300 track athletes will gather at the King City stadium for the renewal of the once-famous King City Relays. This meet was once recognized as the top prep track festival in California and some of the nation's best track stars were developed there. However, lack of administrative interest saw the meet die out for the past 15 years. King City's new track coach, Wayne Dawson (a nephew of Carmel's Chuck Dawson), has done a marvelous job of restoring track interest at the valley school and the Relays are on again. Carmel High is sending a full team in both the lightweight and varsity divisions and the enthusiastic Padres could come home with some of the handsome medals being offered.

Help Wanted — One Split-T Quarterback — Monterey Peninsula College's new football coach, Bill Abbey is combining the prep ranks for a quarterback who can make the Lobo split-T attack hum as he is used to seeing his football offense hum. While at Fort Ord, popular Bill had the likes of Jim Powers, Rudy Bukich and Don Heinrich to engineer the attack from the QB spot. Abbey likes the looks of the football prospects at MPC and figures to be in the thick of the pennant chase if a topflight quarterback comes along.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Availability today of God's healing and regenerative power will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?"

Christ Jesus' healing of the "man with an unclean spirit" will be read from Mark including the following (1:27): "And they were all amazed, inasmuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him."

Among the correlative passages to be read from Science and Health is the following (494:11): "It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

Lehmans Leave For Europe

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lehmann leave today for New York, and, after a few days there, will sail on the Noordam for Europe, arriving in Rotterdam on April 23. They will be met in Holland by their son, Hans, who will leave his duties as a specialist third class with the U. S. Army in Pirmasens, Germany, to greet them when they arrive. Hans has taken only five days leave in the past year so that he might have time to spend with his parents when they came to Europe. He now has 28 free days accumulated and will spend some of them now with his parents in Holland, and later join them in Venice and again in Switzerland.

The Lehmans will return to Carmel in September and so will Hans, as he will be released from Army service at that time. Dr. and Mrs. Lehmann are looking forward to seeing Germany again, their homeland, which they have not visited in 20 years. They first left Germany to go to Albania where Dr. Lehmann was head of the country's medical services for King Zog. Shortly before King Zog was forced to leave his country, the Lehmans came to America, and Carmel, where they decided to live.

Klaus, their older son, came to see them for two days of the Easter week end. He was on his way back to Los Angeles from a trip to New York where he had gone to be interviewed for a position with the National Broadcasting Company. Each year this company chooses six young men for radio and television work and this year there were 800 applications. From this number 15 were selected for personal interviews, and news of the final six chosen will be known in May.

McBrides' Weekend

Mrs. Viola McBride of Ferndale spent Easter week end in her Carmel cottage and was joined by two of her three sons, Jon and Andy. The boys are both studying agriculture at California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo. This was Mrs. McBride's first visit to Carmel since the Christmas time floods on the Eel River on which Ferndale is located. Her tales of the catastrophe were harrowing, such as seeing people and houses swept by and being unable to do anything about the situation. There were no lives lost in Ferndale due to the fine work of the local fire department, she reports. When the fire chief found out how high the water was rising in the Eel River he immediately made a plan of all homes on low land which might be inundated, and then he and his men evacuated the residents before their houses were flooded or swept away.

Easter Hunt At The Kocher's

The Easter bunny left eggs hidden all about the Carmel Highlands garden of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Kocher which were hunted and found on Sunday morning by their two grandchildren, Terry and Jimmy Harner. The two children arrived with their parents, Mike and June, on Wednesday for a four-day stay with the Kochers, June's parents.

Joan Daniels Married

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremy Cushman Laning (Joan Daniels) will make their home at 1420 York Avenue in New York City. They were married on St. Patrick's Day in the First Methodist Church of Plymouth, North Carolina. The ceremony was performed by the father of the groom, the Reverend Jesse Laning, pastor of the church.

Joan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Daniels, who went East for her wedding. They were accompanied by another daughter, Mrs. Erik Short, who was her sister's matron of honor.

The bride is assistant to the advertising manager of Doubleday publishers, and her husband is script editor for ABC network in New York and formerly a copy editor at Doubleday.

Millers Go Home

Mrs. Valentine Miller and her three children, Andrew, Allison and Jane, left Carmel early Monday morning for their home in Santa Barbara after an Easter stay in Carmel as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams. They were accompanied south by Mrs. Susan Porter, Valentine's mother, who will spend a short time with them in Santa Barbara.

Sharon Visits Father

Sharon Brown returned to her studies at Sacred Heart Convent in San Francisco on Tuesday after spending Easter vacation in Carmel with Mr. and Mrs. William B. Brown. On Easter day they were joined for dinner by Mrs. Florence Sharon Brown, Bill's mother and Sharon's grandmother.

Nielsen Bros. Celebrates 25th Anniversary

Nielsen Bros. Grocery, the food store familiar to most Carmel residents, is celebrating its first quarter century of operation in the community this month. The store, established first on March 13, 1925, by Walter and Harold Nielsen, is known to Carmel residents for its stocks of gourmet foods, imported wines and liquors, and one of the Monterey Peninsula's most comprehensive selections of food staples. Nielsen's Grocery long has been a Carmel landmark in its 7th and Dolores Street location.

Originally called Market Del Mar, it commenced operations with a staff of two employees, in addition to the proprietors. Today, the staff numbers 12.

The March 13, 1931, issue of The Pine Cone, in which the opening of Market Del Mar was announced, included the following:

"Arrangement and fixtures represent the latest wrinkle in retail merchandising. Perhaps the newest feature is a ladies' rest room where customers may relax or make up their shopping lists at leisure." (This last feature since has been discontinued at Nielsen's Grocery.)

The 25-year-old issue of the Pine Cone mentions also some of the "innovations" which were to characterize the new Nielsen Bros. Grocery. Most startling of these were market baskets to be provided for customers who then were to be allowed to roam the new food store freely and select from open shelves the merchandise of their choice. In 1931 such revolutionary breaking with tradition caused a mild sensation in Carmel.

Both Walter and Harold Nielsen own homes here. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nielsen and their four children, occupy the family residence at 13th and Carmelo. Gwen and Walter Nielsen's family consists of Connie, now a freshman at Stephens College, Missouri; Nancy, who attends Carmel High School; Gregory, a member of the 8th grade at Sunset School and Penny, 12, a student in the 7th grade at the same school. Walter Nielsen, an amateur gardener of some distinction, is well known for the dahlias he grows, spectacular blooms which frequently stop traffic in the environs of 13th and Carmelo.

Harold Nielsen and his wife, Arline, have a home at Monte Verde and 15th, and their summer home in the Valley. Their son, Gary, 19, is a student at California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo, and their daughter, Sharon, 16, is at Carmel High School. Harold served 12 years as chairman of the Carmel Unified School District Board and two years as president of the Carmel Business Association. Like Walter, he enjoys gardening, and until he became owner of a Hammond organ, was interested in copper work. He has shops for working copper in both his Carmel and Valley homes and still is interested in his hobby but finds himself playing the organ whenever he has a spare moment, providing Arline hasn't already pre-empted it.

An interesting sidelight on the silver anniversary of the Nielsen Bros. Grocery is the fact that, in 1924, Walter Nielsen arrived in Carmel with a cash capital totaling the sum of $10.00! Subsequent years in Carmel gave Walter some retail grocery experience, and in 1931, with his brother, he opened Market Del Mar, in what now is the meat department of Nielsen Bros. Grocery.

Plans for the future? The Nielsen brothers express them this way, "We appreciate the patronage of our many friends and customers during our first 25 years, and we look forward to serving them in the future."

Holiday In Hawaii

Mrs. Blanche Woods and Mrs. Florence Canfield are holidaying in Hawaii, and plan to visit each of the big islands during three weeks' stay. They will call on Bill and June Gargiulo in Honolulu and bring back to Bill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Gargiulo, a first hand report about their grandchild, Jill, whom her grandparents have not seen, as yet, although they are looking forward to June when she will come to Carmel with her father and mother.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

WATER AND WILDERNESS

The approaching Conference on the Northwest Wilderness to be held in Portland on April 7 and 8 highlights two conservation problems in that part of the country. I should like to comment on them briefly and after I have returned from the Conference, I may have something to say about them.

The Pacific Northwest has the largest undeveloped areas in the United States of two of the most controversial ingredients of conservation problems — water and wilderness. The controversies center around the degree of "development", so-called, that the people of the United States, who own these resources, shall, through their representatives in Congress, permit.

The Columbia River system has about ten times as much water in it as the Colorado, which has been the subject of such bitter controversy in Congress recently. About one-third of the Columbia is in Canada and we don't yet know how much of it will be allowed to cross the line into the United States. Dam building on the river system has begun, however, and the Bureau of Reclamation and the Army Engineers have designs on all of the best locations on the main river and its tributaries.

Two highly controversial dams on the Clearwater River in Idaho, a tributary of the Columbia, are known as the Bruce Eddy and the Penny Cliffs dams. They will have a disastrous effect on wildlife resources, especially the elk herds and the salmon runs, and one of them will back water up into a dedicated Wilderness Area, supposed to be free from all such developments. Conservationists maintain that with careful planning other dams can be made to take the place of these two, which were last week the subject of Congressional hearings.

As for wilderness, the Glacier Peak area in the north central part of Washington, is the largest unprotected wilderness area left in the United States. The establishment of a dedicated and protected Wilderness Area there is the subject of current discussions between conservation groups and the U. S. Forest Service. This summer a number of different groups from the Sierra Club and other conservation organizations have planned trips into the region in order that they may be better informed as to its values.

The issue here is very clearly whether the 300 million or more people who will have homes in this country by the year 2000 will need these wilderness breathing spaces for the good of their bodies and souls worse than they will want the products of their forests and mines. The outstanding fact in the situation, which should be repeated over and over, is that there are and will be substitutes for the commodities to be obtained from their exploitation but there are not and never will be, any substitutes for primeval wilderness. Once it is gone, it can never be replaced.

Fortunately, the voters in the populous East are now realizing that fact. In a popular election in New York State last November they decisively defeated a Constitutional Amendment which would have opened for exploitation their publicly-owned Adirondack Forest Preserve. It is the hope of western conservationists that the coming Conference in Portland will help to convert voters out here into watchdogs of their wilderness regions.

Beauty and the Beach

anathema to our strand's defenders are ferris wheel and wiener vendors, and other digressions from status quo that partake of the nature of concessions.

but come april the tenth, should you go to the polls and not reinforce the old controls, this loveliest distance between two points will soon shift its sands under hamburger joints!

on the dunes will be tunes from that popular vox known to us all as the juke box.

the sunset glow will render intenser the familiar red of coke dispenser, and bathe in rose the rows of bathhouses for intrepid aquabellies and beaux.

the birds will rise from those spending their salaries in cypress-shadowed shooting galleries, and from wild locomotion of roller coaster mingling its roar with that of the ocean.

this magnetic curve of coast would soon be completely metamorphosed not only by these but by such monstrous blots as tennis courts, swimming pools, parking lots!

so let's X our ballots and with mad cries greet this chance to keep our beach off-beat.

Hotel Universe Opens Friday At Circle Theatre

Hotel Universe, by Philip Barry, will open at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre tomorrow night, also playing Saturday and Sunday.

From ancient Greek drama of gods and goddesses, nymphs and satyrs, down to The Search for Bridey Murphy, plays and stories venturing to the brink of the Unknown have had a strong hold on the imagination of people the world over. In Hotel Universe Philip Barry, one of our foremost playwrights (Philadelphia Story, The Animal Kingdom, Holiday, etc.) has written a gripping and highly entertaining play which ran in New York for six months during the worst of the depression years. Opening up and treading a new path, it was the choice of the New York Theatre Guild. It tells a fascinating story of perception beyond our everyday five senses, occurring among a weekend party of five young Americans in a villa on the French Riviera.

Director Charles Thomas, responsible for the success of the recent series of light comedies at the Circle Theatre, has assembled an outstanding local cast. The players include Ann McElroy Frye, Betty Fowlston, David Eldridge, Gertrude Chappell, Gene Eplett, Harvey Hall, Lenore Shager, Warren Finnell and Walter Williams.

After tomorrow night's opening, the play will continue Saturday and Sunday, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

JOSELYN JUNKET

Mr. and Mrs. Talbert Josselyn and Barbara returned Friday from a week-long visit to the desert country. Tal observes that it's the beauty of the Grand Canyon as much as the beauty which puts man in his place, and thinks it's too bad a few of our politicians can't visit it before this fall election. "We might be relieved of some of their noise." He liked the way they are controlling the development of Scottsdale through zoning. "And I told them so. I believe in telling people about it when I think they are doing a good job."

Excuse for the trip was to have a look at desert land the Josselyns have long owned in Paradise Valley, not far from Phoenix and Scottsdale. They bought it with the thought that some day it might be good for farming and let it lie. Now they learn that it is on the way to becoming residential property. They decided to let it lie some more.

The Josselyns report that wild-flowers are in full display and are especially fine on the Tehachapi Grade.

APRIL AUDUBON MEETING

The regular April meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will be held Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the library at Carmel High School. After the regular meeting Mrs. Lillian Paca will show more of her swan drawings and will accompany the showing with a talk on swans.

FROM A
LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

We have three new guidebooks for you this week, and we have three more by the same editor still on order. The three that have arrived are entitled Greece, Spain and Portugal, and Italy. All are by Dor Ogrizek. They are all rather special because they are handsomely illustrated in color, and because they stress the cultural and artistic experiences to be found in each country. The three we have on order are Belgium and Luxembourg, Scandinavia, and South and Central Africa. They'll be along in the not too distant future.

John Fitzgerald tells a heart-warming story of his family in Papa Married a Mormon. One of the best parts of it is the sense of family unity among the Fitzgeralds, composed of Catholic, Mormon, and Methodist members, all holding to the fact that "all religions are but windows of the same church".

The Book of the Mountains is a collection of writings about the mountains of the world in all their aspects. It is beautifully illustrated by line drawings and by photographs, and it was edited by A. C. Spectorsky. The editor has presented the material here under six headings which seem to cover all of man's attitudes toward mountains. There is writing here for all reading tastes.

Potluck Cookery is another specialized cook book. Borrow this book before your next pot-luck dinner, and be the belle of the culinary ball.

For those who enjoy both biography and local history, we have a new book by James S. Marshall which was printed in Canada. It is entitled Adventure in Two Hemispheres. The title tells the seeker little about the subject matter of the book, but actually it is an account of the voyages of Captain Vancouver to the Pacific Coast and to the Hawaiian Islands. This is the first published account to give a complete story of Vancouver's exploits. Monterey is mentioned several times, and the reader may find the good index in the book a helpful guide.

A new play by William Inge is Bus Stop. The action takes place in a tawdry restaurant in a small Kansas town, where a group of bus passengers are held up by a storm. These characters are all very real people.

The last book of the late Louis Bromfield is entitled Animals and Other People. To the Bromfields, animals were really people, and these engaging pieces about the animals of Malabar Farm have been collected and reprinted from the several magazines in which they first appeared.

We once knew a librarian who had in stock a somewhat facetious answer for any young enquirer who came asking what characteristics a person needed to be a lib-

HANSEL AND GRETEL
COMING

On April 14 there will be two free performances of Hansel and Gretel by the Children's Theatre for the Children of the Monterey Peninsula. One performance will be held at 10:30 in the morning in Pacific Grove High School and the other at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon here in Sunset Auditorium.

The program is sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula League for Community Service and the Wharf Players.

arian. The answer was, "Good feet and a pair of comfortable shoes". The same answer might be appropriate to such inquiries about other professions. One reason we were attracted to the next book may have been that we are librarians, because the title of the book is Your Feet and Their Care. Some of the material here seems rather elementary, but in a slightly different sense, feet are elementary too.

This week there is also a biography of Jinnah, by Hector Bolitho, and five new novels. Make a note to come in for a look at them with future reading in mind.

Party In The Garden

Ever since Richard Lofton settled in Carmel ten years ago he has painted in the studio in Mrs. Edith Bird's garden at the corner of Rio Road and Santa Lucia Street. Since Mrs. Bird's death the property has been for sale and was recently bought by the Rich Beck-Meyers. Richard Lofton will now paint in a cottage next to his own home on Camino Real. During the time Richard has occupied the Bird studio his friends and their children have called on him, either to be painted or to look at his work, and have loved the spacious, beautiful, old-fashioned Carmel garden surrounding his work place. A few weeks ago Richard and Nancy, his wife, had the idea of a farewell Easter party in the garden for their friends and their children. The Beck-Meyers, thought it was a fine idea, too. So, on Sunday morning at 11:30 three dozen children, and their parents, each family bearing at least two dozen colored eggs, gathered in Mrs. Bird's garden. The eggs were hidden by the parents in the grass, under the flowering fruit trees, beneath the bushes and in every other likely looking hiding place. The children hunted the eggs and hid them for the grown-ups to find. Then for the third time the eggs were hidden and found by the children, for keeps.

Everyone gathered in the patio about the pool for lunch after the egg-hunting, and afterwards the parents spent the afternoon sitting in the sun while the children played in the garden.

Present were the Loftons, Mr. and Mrs. Rich Beck-Meyer, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw Williams, Mrs. Valentine Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Doner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vial, Senator and Mrs. Fred Farr, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Rod Clayton, Dr. and Mrs. Talcott Bates, Tom Rees, Mrs. Viola McBride, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Chaffey, Mrs. Hildreth Hare, Joe Gledhill and Mrs. Nathaniel Baylis, the three dozen children of all ages, and three dogs, Zeke Williams, Umphy Farr and Trunket Smith. No grown-ups or children fell in the pool but Zeke Williams distinguished himself as the first dog to take a dip.

Elton On The Stormy Seas

Lieutenant Elton Clark is on his way west from Newport, Rhode Island, on the destroyer Preston, due to arrive in Long Beach the middle of this month. Four destroyers are travelling together and all survived the terrific storm off the East Coast two weeks ago, although three men were lost from Elton's ship, which though damaged, was repaired enough to continue the voyage. His wife, Donna, is also on her way to Long Beach, by car, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Philip W. Ames and her sister, Dian, Dr. and Mrs. Howard E. Clark expect to see Elton and his bride in Long Beach when they go south at the end of the month in order that Dr. Clark may attend meetings of the California Medical Society in Los Angeles. They are also expecting Elton and Donna here as soon as the former has leave.

Home From Nebraska

Mrs. Elsa Olson of Stromburg, Nebraska, spent last week here as the guest of her two granddaughters, Mrs. Reuben Johnson and Mrs. George B. Turner. On Tuesday evening, the Turners entertained for Mrs. Olson at a smorgasbord dinner and on Wednesday night the Johnsons had Mrs. Olson as their dinner guest and also, Mrs. Reka Johnson of Los Angeles, Mr. Johnson's mother. Family movies were shown after dinner reviving many memories enjoyed by those present at the party. Mrs. Olson stopped in Carmel on her way home from a winter spent in Ramona, California.

Bensberg In Vienna

Carl Bensberg, off for his annual three seasons in Europe, arrived Saturday in Bremerhaven, Germany. Next stop was Wolfsburg, where he picked up a new Volkswagen at the factory and drove on to Vienna for a summer of music. This year he will establish a permanent summer home there for he has shared with a newly married couple the cost of buying an apartment. Housing is so short that the only way to get an apartment is to buy one when a new building is scheduled. Bensberg now has assured himself a room in Vienna, always ready for him, and has made it possible for the young people to marry sooner than they had hoped.

The groom is an instructor of English in the university where the bride teaches music.

In September Bensberg will take his Volkswagen on a wander through Spain and Italy and in October bring it back home with him to Carmel.

Happy Easter For Canoles

Jack Canoles has been in the Monterey Hospital for two weeks undergoing surgery, but returned home in time for Easter with Mrs. Canoles and two of their grandchildren, who with their parents, Bud and Patsy (Canoles) Zanetta came over from Marina to welcome Mr. Canoles home and find what the Easter bunny had left for them.

Roxanne Aurner Christened

Roxanne, six-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aurner of San Jose, was christened by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray on Saturday afternoon in the Little Chapel of the Church of the Wayfarer. Cameron Stewart of Hollister, a boyhood friend of Roxanne's father, was present as godfather and after the ceremony a small family party was held at the home of the baby's grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert R. Aurner.

Guests At Farris

Assemblyman Thomas M. Rees who represents Beverly Hills in the State Legislature, came to Carmel last week end to be the guest of Senator and Mrs. Fred Farr. He and the Senator returned to the state capitol on Monday morning taking with them, Megan O'Neill, daughter of Mrs. Haley O'Neill of Sacramento who had been the Easter week end guest of the Farr's daughter, Francesca.

In Movie At Cal

Paul Marianetti, who is married to Mrs. Eleanor Mott's daughter, Elizabeth, has recently been released from the Navy and is now studying drama at the University of California in Berkeley. He has been chosen to take the lead in a movie on the campus, one of a series being made in colleges throughout the United States. The films will be distributed to foreign colleges as part of the exchange student program. While stationed in Hawaii last summer, Paul Marianetti was chosen Mr. Armed Forces, the title given to the most perfect male in the armed forces judged by physical excellence tests held at McKinley Auditorium in Hawaii.

John Has Birthday

John Allen Frank was five years old on Tuesday, last week, and celebrated the occasion with a dinner party at his home for 14 friends from his kindergarten class at Forest Hills School. Cake and ice cream were served and games were played. Decorations featured an Easter theme. John is the son of Mrs. Virginia Frank who recently returned to Carmel to live after an absence of eight years.

Sidney Dibble Heads New Motel Owners' Organization Here

At a recent meeting held at La Playa Hotel, a group comprising the majority of the owners of the leading establishments, other than regular hotels, catering to the housing of tourists and other visitors to Carmel, voted unanimously to form an organization to affiliate with and become a chapter of the California State Motel Association.

Officers elected at the organizational meeting are: Sidney A. Dibble, chairman; Herbert K. Poffenberger, vice-chairman; Kenneth D. Brown, secretary-treasurer and Carl J. Bosholm, director.

In commenting on the new organization, for which a name has not as yet been selected, Dibble said: "The response of the operators in our field, to the forming of such an organization has been such that I feel certain we will have practically a 100 per cent membership of our operators in the very near future."

The organization is designed to promote an exchange of ideas among our own people and others engaged in the same business endeavor throughout the State. It is pledged to uphold the true tradition of Carmel, recognizing the fact that our visitors must be properly housed and otherwise cared for in a gracious and homelike atmosphere, which is generally characteristic of the establishments that we operate," Dibble said.

CANCER BENEFIT AT HOLT RANCH SUNDAY

On Sunday there will be a benefit bazaar at the Holt Ranch, 10:00 o'clock in the morning to 5:00 in the afternoon to help raise Monterey County's quota of $24,310 for the American Cancer Society's annual drive.

Events will include a fashion show, sports, displays of garden furniture, plants and flowers, antiques, a pet show, pony rides for children and various other activities designed to interest the whole family. Tickets are on sale at stores throughout the county and at the Monterey County headquarters of the American Cancer Society at 246 Pearl St., Monterey.

The drive opened this week with 25,000 letters going to residents of Monterey County, according to H. William Monroe, county chairman. New residents who do not receive letters may send their contributions to American Cancer Society, care of their local postmaster.

"Twice As Wonderful . . ."

Ruth Thornburg, Carmel librarian, attended the library workshop at the State Library last week in Sacramento and reported on her return to Carmel, "I saw a bulletin board with several examples of good library publicity posted on it, and guess what, there was a copy of From a Librarian's Notebook up there as big as life and twice as wonderful in my eyes." This recognition seemed to be cause for surprise to Ruth, though it will not be to the readers who enjoy her breezy column in the Pine Cone.

A letter from Gary Leiber was read to members thanking them for the stamps they had sent him which he is sharing with other bedridden boys. Stamp collectors may send duplicates to Gary at Box 561, Monterey.

Visitors at the meeting were F. G. Brothier from Berkeley, Mrs. J. Cabell and Douglas Cabell, Jr., from Monterey. New members of the club are Stanley Wielga, Le Roy P. Ades, Arthur Derrick and Douglas Cabell, Jr.

Next meeting will be on April 16 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening at Carmel High School when pre-cancel collectors will have a chance to ask questions and swap.

City Attorney Tom Perry reported that he has completed codification of the city ordinance code, and it is now in the hands of the printer (The Pine Cone Press). Obsolete ordinances have been repealed, others rewritten; they have been newly numbered and an index has been compiled. For the first time Carmel will have a printed ordinance code. Instead of being bound, the printed sheets will be placed in a loose leaf folder so that new ordinances can be added as they receive legal publication. About 100 books will be made available to the public by the city at cost.

The following signs were approved: for Theresia Little Swiss Cafe, a new business to be opened on the south side of Sixth, east of Lincoln; the French Cafe on Dolores Street, a new sign for the existing business; a change of name for Rosalind Hughes' Song of Sixpence on the south side of Ocean, west of Mission, upstairs, to Roz's; for Charlotte Doud real-estate office, moving from Lincoln to the south side of Ocean between Dolores and San Carlos; sign for a new business, Premier Realty Company on the east side of San Carlos, north of Sixth Street.

Fred Godwin, master of ceremonies: "That's good but not good enough. We've got something from our own people." Writer and early day Carmelite Talbert Josselyn, who had been asked to express for "all of us" how the community feels about Peter, read the following:

We shall be brief. This is hail and farewell to you, Peter Mawdsley.

It is hail to one who knew Carmel when it was a village, and who has helped shape its destiny as it grew from village to town to city.

It is hail to one who realized the beauty of the place, and who knew that only by eternal vigilance could that beauty be retained.

It is hail to one who saw here a happy way of life, and who entered into it with all the force of his being.

It is farewell to a civic servant, who has been proud of that title, for he has served Carmel.

It is farewell to one who now goes journeying to the land of his youth. But in time, it will again be hail.

Remember it, for we shall be here to greet you on your return.

Here's to you, Peter Mawdsley, God bless you.

Gifts were brought to Peter's table where he sat with Lucy; his son, Peter Junior, his daughter in law, Virginia, his daughter, Audrey; Mayor and Mrs. Horace Lyon, and Fred Godwin. The Mawdsley "children" had come to Carmel especially to add to Peter's happiness on this occasion.

A pair of binoculars, for Peter; a leather purse for Lucy, leather passport cases with names embossed, were among the gifts "from all of us," grateful citizens, friends, city officials, city employees.

Peter in his speech of thanks said that "Carmel has always been good to us" and that his work had been made easier by the good will and good neighbor spirit of Carmel. "We've had the co-operation not only of Carmel but of the neighboring cities and the

He appears to appreciate and understand the fundamental values of Carmel and has sound ideas as to how to keep them. He is reasonable, tolerant, well balanced, gets along well with people and gets things done effortlessly and without friction. If you wish to replace one of the incumbents, we believe that Jim Buffington would serve you well on the council.

Geraldine Smith has done an exceptionally fine job as Commissioner of Health and Safety. Intelligent, enthusiastic, personable, with a gift for witty speech, she has represented Carmel with credit at inter-city committee meetings. Carmel has never had a better Health and Safety Commissioner. As a councilman, on issues that change the face of Carmel, her judgment has been bad. She not only voted to over-rule the planning commission's "no" to allowing the Red Cross to build in the residence district, but as a member of the board of directors of the Red Cross she engineered the maneuver. She voted, over the protests of the neighbors, to open a street to give more convenient access to property on which her father wished to build rental units. She voted yes to allow the television cable people to move their transformers above ground.

county." He promised to return. (The Mawdsleys are planning a year's visit in England followed by a tour of Europe.) "I will cherish the memory of this night, and these tokens will remind us of the most fruitful years of our life."

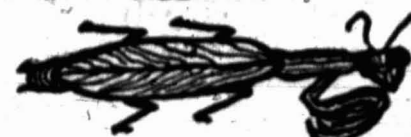

and a lot of innocent bystanders besides. He has insulted and abused the very people who could have helped him most in his efforts to adjust himself to his new job as street commissioner, but ten years from now it will not matter whether or not such and such a councilman was a pest to have around; it will matter how he voted. Francis Whitaker has not been infallible; his voting record is not as good as Mayor Lyon's, which is the best of any of the five; but on issues that determine the future appearance of Carmel, Whitaker's vote has been right. This is a consideration as we enter into the critical period when our zoning ordinances will be torn apart and remade to implement a master plan, now in the making.

Yes, please, on the beach ordinance; yes, for Mayor Horace Lyon, and pick two out of the three above; or if you know them and believe in them, cast your spare votes for one or two of the new men. We have not discussed.
